Charity Drive Surpasses Goal

Marple Newtown sponsored its annual Charity Drive last week from October 24-27. Activities were held each day in order to reach the goal of $1,973, which will be presented to the Cancer Society.

On Tuesday, October 24, chances were sold for the drawing of the bike and Jethro Toll tickets. Tickets for Slave Day and the Alfred Hitchcock movie were sold at lunches and after school. Pretzel sales were held everyday after school.

On Wednesday, October 25, students attended an assembly about cancer. A movie was shown, and Dr. Stein, who works with the Cancer Society, spoke. Tickets and chances were still being sold. Student Council representatives were collecting money everyday in their classes. Also, chances and tickets were still being sold.

Thursday, October 26 was Slave Day. Students who were bought as slaves had permission to leave class 5 minutes early to carry the books of their "masters". Alfred Hitchcock's "39 Steps" was shown that night in the auditorium.

Friday, October 27, brought the Charity Drive to a close. Many actions were held in classes. Cupcakes and cookies made by students were sold throughout the day. At the Car Wreck, the drawing was held for the prizes offered. Cathy Carson won the 10-speed bicycle. Wendy Lord and Bob Immel won tickets to the Jethro Tull concert. The musical rock group, "Free Stream", provided entertainment and background music. Students competed against faculty members in water balloon fights, egg throwing contests and other races. Posters and food were available for students to purchase. The Senior Class

Anne Frank to be Staged

November 10 is the night that The Diary of Anne Frank opens for its two day engagement at Marple Newtown. A cast of ten characters has been selected and rehearsals are well into their fourth week. At this point in the production, the stage needs to he readied for performance. To accomplish this, crews of several types have been assembled to build the set and to set the stage lighting for the production.

The set was designed by Donald Campbell. Starting from a sketch of basic ideas (based on the description of the set provided in the script), Don constructed a working model of the set, and then he completed a set of drawings specifing the exact dimensions of the set. When asked about the approach used to design a set for a play such as The Diary of Anne Frank, Don replied, "Each part of the small set must be an integral part of the whole structure. In other words, the smallness of the set provides the cramped effect necessary to the presentation of Anne Frank."

The set required the utmost accuracy to build. One of the major problems encountered in designing this set was one of the workability of the entire structure. The set needed to be compact, yet usable; it had to be strong enough to be practical, yet small enough to portray the ef-

Initial SC Forum Disappoints

Student Council has recently initiated a program in which students may air their gripes about the school directly to SC Officers. The Student Council Forums have two purposes: they offer students a chance to present their problems directly to higher echelons of Student Council, and they give SC officers a chance to find out how SC can be most effective and responsive to the students.

One forum was held two weeks ago Thursday, and another was held yesterday. The first Forum was rather disappointing to the SC officers. Student Council President Frank Ostroff

Elections

"Of and For the People"

This being an age i which politics has practically saturated our very existence. it is a common belief, and in too many cases a true one. that government "Of. by and for the people" has disappeared with the 45¢ lunch: that America is doomed to leader ship by big business and the Pentagon.

However. one man. Sen George McGovern. has emerged above all other candidates and proven to the American public that he is TPULY A MAN "OF AND FOR THE PEOPLE." For nine years. George McGovern has disregarded criticism and spoken out on his opposition to the Vietnam War. Today. the most hardened conservative will agree with McGovern that the Vietnam War was a mistake. Since 1963. George McGovern haa advocated an Economic Conversion

Terry Vega , is a 16 year old senior and an exchange student in M.N. this year. Terry comes from Cagayan de Oau, an industrail city on the island Mindannas, in the Philippines.

Terry is already a high school graduate of Louedes College , an all girl's school in the Philippines. Compared to M.N.,her school is smaller , with much less freedom . There is a different cirriculum and grading system, which is based wholly on numbers, and there is no swimming ool.

Terry finds it a beauriful country and likes it very much. "The people are nice too, everyone was so helpful when I needed help everybody is so friendly."

Terry is not sure of a career , but she plans too major in maas communication and journalism in college; she plans to attend college back home in the Philippinea.

Terry will r turn home in June after her ten month stay here. Terry is willing to anawer any questions anyone might have about her country.

Breed Controversy

America's Failur?

Recent elections in the U.S. aeem to be getting more depressing as they come up every four years. One is tempted to suggest waiting another year to give a suitable Presidential candidate some more time to appear on the national scene. Certainly we should be able to do better than President Nixon and Senator McGovern.

Most of you are probably familiar with the failures of the Nixon Administration. Of course, the one outstanding issue is Vietnam. President Nixon has changed the color of the casualties without lowering their number, and also without reducing th number of men we have involved in the Southeast Asian conflict. We have merely replaced our ground forces with sea and air forces. The number of B52's based in Southeast Asia has doubled since last year at this time. So the President has in fact escalated the war, since more South Vietnameae troops are alao involved. Also, the President is only the second President in U.S. history to have two of his suggested appointees for the aame seat on the Supreme Court

Orchestra Revived

Do you play an orchestra inatrument? If you do, the Marple Newtown orchestra needa you! The firat meeting for those intereated in orchestra was held on Wednesday. October 4. After three years MN finally has the beginninga of a full time orchestra. The orcheatra will be led by Mr McGriff and will meet every Wednesday after school. Mr McGriff commented that they are now in the procesa of organization but hope to do several concerts in the future. He also said that it will take hard work and several years before the orchestra becomes one of quality and quantity. but the process ahould be enjoyable. Anyone interested in joining the orchestra should contact Mr. McGriff as soon as possible.

"Now More Than Ever"

On the cover of a pamphlet I received for this article was printed the following:

President Nixon.
Now more than ever.

This pamphlet, when opened, gave valid backing to that statement on the outside. Now, more than ever, crisis diplomacy has been brought to an end in foreign policy Now, more than ever, inflation is slowing thanks to the creation of 125,000 more jobs, a change in the tax structure, and the 90-day freeze on wages and prices. There are 25 separate bills proposed on the environment and initiated are plans and programs working against pollution, now, more than ever. In Vietnam, combat involvement has decreased by 90% with 400,000 Americans returning home, now, more than ever.

Letter to the Editors

Dear Editors,

In the paat weeks of school, many studenta have enjoyed riding their bicycles to school. For the most part, these are lightweight. multi-geared bikes. Many of these bikes cost over one hundred dollars, a considerable investment to aay the least.

Unfortunately, several of theae bicycles have been stolen. Those stolen had, as is usual, been chained to posts outside the band room. Their chains were cut.

The school authorities were forced into action. They gave ua something else to chain our bikes to- a bike rack. It won't make a bit of difference.

What are the solutions? Are there any solutions? Who can say? Perhaps if the school let us use the large closet outaide the auditorium to keep and lock our bikes (and the

THE TIGER'S EYE

An explorer returned to our village today. He haa been gone for several months but had finally been able to make his way back. He was not in very good physical condition, ad his health was very poor. His clothes were torn and dirty, and he suffered from malnutrition. His hair was unkempt, and he had grown a very scraggly beard. However, he had stories to tell, as every adventurer does, and we all gathered around to listen.

Everybody oohed and aahed when he told us he had ventured into one of the Dark Regions. These are the mysterious, unexplored areas which lie just off of the main roads connecting the villages. It wasn't long until he encountered a group of the inhabitants. He hid in order to observe them. They were ugly, hideous people who congregated at a clearing in the wood. They had the same basic shape as us, but unhumanlike, they breathed fire and smoke. Not only that but the end of one of their fingers glowed red and they continually sucked on it. These people were not uncivilized, though, for they were religious. They were constantly at their altars, which were made of porcelain and had a lever at the top, and they prayed for deliverance from their terrifying enemy, the Fotmon. The Fotmon was a very large creature who preyed on these people. When the Fotmon came into sight, the terror stricken people would desperately pull the levers on their altars and then quickly scatter. Once the Fotmon had mistaken our explorer for one of them, and through his flight from it he had achieved his present condition.

That was his story, but unsatisfied, and curious, we demanded to know the name of this gruesome place. He closed his eyes, leaned back, and uttered a word that was completely strange to us.

"Lavatory."

Chi Sigma Chi Underway

Chi Sigma Chi, a girls service club, is now in full swing. The present officers are President: Candy Peck, Vice President: Diane Karsner, Treasurer: Janet Morgan, Social Secretary: Joan Wagner, and Secretary: Robin Manzies. At the beginning of the achool year. the club was open to all junior and senior girls. In order to qualify for membership. they had to attend many meetings and work on a apaghetti dinner which was held on October 14th. Initiation was on October 20th. Old members acted as big sisters to the new members and ordered them to dress up in "way-out" clothes for the entire school dav. A tea was given to the new members to welcome them into Chi Sigma Chi.

Chi Sigma Chi is an organization affiliated with the YMCA. It raises money to give to various needy organizations by selling minta. helping with the charity drive, and running Carnation Dav. The group also has overnight trips at many places such as the Garrett Williamson Lodge.

Plan which would switch our war economy to a peace time economy without causing the loss of one American job. Nine years later, every politician has his own version of that plan. The list is endless. Countless changes that "radical" McGovern has called for are now being advocated by both Democrats and Republicans alike.

Richard Nixon, who claims to have wound down the war and brought peace to the world, has presided over the death of 20,000 American soldiers since his inauguration. 140,000 Americans are still actively participating in the war in Indochina at a cost of $250 million per week. Richard Nixon, the man who goes on national T.V. and asks the American public to pray for our P.O.W.'s, has allowed 550 American P.O.W.'s to be lost in just four years, with over 100 being lost in just the last five months. Is this the way to bring our P.O.W.'s home, by adding an average of 12 per month?

HE CONSTANTLY TELLS US THAT THE PRESENT ADMINISTRATION HAS HELPED THE ECONOMY PICK UP. The truth is that the day Richard Nixon took office, the unemployment rate was 3.3%. In one of the most industrial nations in the history of the world, we have watched the unemployment rate rise 67% in just four years.

Richard Nixon takes credit for making the world secure and for the progress of the SALT talks, yet he has asked Congress for the largest defense budget since WWII. George McGovern would end all American military actions in Vietnam within 90 days of his inauguration. He would CUT $30 billion off the monstrous military budget by 1975 yet we would still have enough nuclear power to destroy every Russian or Chinese 20 times over, if that's your idea of a good time.

The inequities between Richard Nixon's words and actions are more than obvious. Do we, as Americans, want four more years of this? Four more years in which 2 tons of bombs per minute have been dropped on Indochina, every minute of every day? Four more years so crime can increase another 83%? Four more years of promises?

George McGovern is a man of action, not promise. He has proven, most recently with the Eagleton affair, that he is a man who can admit a mistake and correct it, not one who blindly lives by public opinion. Omit a mistake and correct it, not one who blindly lives by public opinion. On Oct. 9, 1968, Richard M. Nixon made this exact quote: "Let me make one thing clear. Those who have had a chance for four years and could not produce peace should not be given another chance!" Four more years? America can not afford it.

Anne Frank Presents Problems to Crew

fect of cramped quarters.

The set will have four different levels. First is the livingroom which is the lowest. Anne Frank's room is slightly raised. Peter VanDan's room is three feet off the floor, but the big difference is the attic. The attic is nine feet off the floor, making the set the first two-story set ever done on this stage.

Along with the set, lighting of the acting area presented another problem for a scene designer. Jeff Shimer has done the lighting for this production. Again, a complex light-plot has been prepared to accomadate the unusually complex set. In order to accomplish this, Jeff has called for the use of almost all the lighting equiptment available. If all proceeds as planned, the play will contain between 80 and 100 lighting cues. This is a very high number, and since the area is small, it will require precise positioning of all lighting apparatus.

These are two of the many jobs that have to be done before a production reaches the stage. Each crew member's efforts lead to a final production. To see the final product of the crew's efforts, come to see the final product of the crew's efforts, come to see The Diary of Anne Frank, on Friday, November 10, or Saturday, November 11, 1972.

Band Sweeps Another Competition

Last Friday the Marple Newtown Senior High Marching Symphonic Band traveled to the campus of Widener College to compete in the Cavalcade of Bands sponsored by the Chester Jaycees. Different classes of competition were set up. Class A contained MN and Sun Valley. The competition was keen, but MN came out on top. Prizes were awarded for best marching band, best overall band, best majorette unit, best auxiliary unit, best drum major, and best featured baton twirler in the entire competition (Class A, B and C.) Marple was awarded trophies for all but best featured twirler, which went to Sun Valley.

On Saturday, the band journeyed to Veterans Stadium to participate in the first Annual North American Band Championship Sponsored by Ruffles and Flourishes, a National Band magazine. East and South were featured in this competition. The winning band was Wilson Senior High from West Lawn, Pa. Although our band finished ninth, the weekend was a productive one. On Thursday, October 26, the band traveled to Hanover, Pa. to compete in a parade.

ch turned down by the ate. President Nixon has ved himself a political ortunist of the first er, using his trips oad to his maximum pol-cal advantage at home, timing them for their imum dramatic effect. le these trips were ac-plishmenta in them-ves, and in fact to be laimed as forward steps, has the feeling that trips to China and the R were more of pomp and cumstance than sub-nce, and ironically, the sident's own Vietnam icy seemed to be the ef obstacle to serious ks. On the domestic nt, the President's much laimed economic polocies e recorded nebulous ns, if any, with con-cting reports of good bad. The Nixon admin-tion has granted most ce increases requested them, making the wage-ce freeze mostly a wage eze.

As for Mr. McGovern, campaign has been his se. His stands on the ues are clear enough, in most cases laudable themselves, but after ing their proponent in ion, one wonders if he up to the job of imple-ting them. He has shown y signs of incompetence inconsistency. Of rse, the Eagleton affair es immediately to mind. he affair actually was overn's responsibility, ing it on his staff is espicable excuse and if as in fact the staff's fault, it is also McGovern's fault, because the staff should not be running the Senator's campaign. McGovern's own incompetence at handling his campaign and/or campaign staff will certainly have a greater effect in international politica, should Mr. McGovern become President, There is also the incident of Pierre Salinger's visit to Paris. McGovern first categorically denied any connection between Salinger and his campaign. It was later said that Salinger had in fact been sent to Paris by McGovern. Apparently, McGovern has not yet learned how to deal with press queries either--a "no comment" would have done much better than a denial and subsequent contradiction. McGovern also seems to be indulging in the same political dealing he once despised--he is even playing up to Mayor Daley, whose delegation was kicked out of the National Convention in another demonstration of McGovern's political play. Of course it is all necessary to win the election, but how far will McGovern go to appease key members of Congress whose support he needs in a particular state, for example, once in office?

We in this school should be glad that most of us are not old enough to vote; the choice seems like the lesser of two equal evils.

Young man do you have a pass?"
Hi ho hi ho hi ho

Oh, Mrs. Punn, you won't catch me, you won't catch me, you won't catch me,
Oh, Mrs. Punn, please don't catch me
For I don't have a pass.

I had none so she said to me, said to me, said to me,
"Where are you supposed to be?"

JOCKTALK

Pre-season Training for Human Fish

How does an imaginative coach handle the problem of pre-season training for a winter sport, especially when there is no time specifically allotted for such a purpose? Mr. Jones, the new boys' swim team coach, has cleverly answered this question by putting into action a new activity at Marple Newtown ; intramural water polo. Now at least one winter sport can enjoy the advantages of having pre-season practice.

Most sports enthusiasts are aware that the participation of several sports, including football, soccer, and girls' hockey, devote at least two weeks at the end of the summer to prepare for their seasons, which are in the fall as soon as school starts. In those hot August days most of these athletes spend long grueling hours in the bright sun preparing themselves for what is to come. Winter sports however, are different, especially boys' swimming. There are no weeks of swimming camp or pre-season swimming, when the swimmers spend all day practicing. In fact, one of the regulations of the MN athletic program is that the winter sports season cannot officially begin until sometime in early November. Mr. Jones, however, has solved the problem to a certain extent by initiating the water polo competition. Having the use of the pool each morning starting in mid-October, he is giving his swimmers a chance to get a jump on the regular season, and the opportunity to have a good time while they're at it. Water polo is excellent for conditioning and it is an exciting sport to play as well.

MN Moves Into First Place in Central League

Tigers Defeat Penncrest and Upper Darby

The Marple Newtown Varsity football team moved into a first place tie with Springfield by defeating Penncrest 26-16. Penncrest took a 6-0 lead on the fine running of Mike Randolph and Vic Menghetti. However, Marple came alive as quarterback Pete Bartlett threw a 40 yard strike to end Steve Orenshaw. The Tigers scored on the patented end sweep by Ken Bradford. Dave Miles kicked the conversion and Marple went into the lockerroom at halftime with a 7---6 lead. The Tigers came out strong the second half and started to block and hit hard. The second half comeback was sparked by fullback Joe Basile, who entered in the second half. Basile bulled his way through Penncrest's defense and went in with his first score. The pass attempt failed and Marple led 13-6. On the Tiger kickoff, Bob Florio scooped up a fumble and ran it to the 30 yard line. The Tigers drove down to the 2 yard line and Quarterback Pete Bartlett went in for the third Tiger score. The pass attempt also failed on the extra point. The last score of the game came by way of MN's tough defense. Steve Vogelsong recovered a fumble and raced for the end zone but fumbled the ball out of bounds. Basile then raced in for his second score. The final score was 26-6. In this game, the Tigers showed the versatility in their running game. The Tigers used Bradford, Trevisan, Miles, Basile, Cini, and Campbell without losing any power. This is the mark of a fine championship team.

On Monday, October 30, Marple Newtown crunched Upper Darby 18-0. Ken Bradford accounted for all three Marple tallies and also came up with a key interception, These three scores were set up through the fine running of juniors Ed Cini and Joe Basile. The offensive line opened up key holes to establish the ground game. The defense continued their outstanding play, as Bradford, Bob Florio, and Sandy Shaver each picked off Upper Darby passes. The defensive line was as tough as always. Steve Vogelsong, Joe Turner, Pete Kofalt,and Ray DeCecco took turns dumping the opposing quarterback. Coach Kenig's defense has given up 12 points in 5 Central League games, including 3 shutouts. With this win the Tigers took sole possession of first place. Tomorrow, the first place Tigers face Radnor at 2:00 P.M. on the Harry Harvey Field.

Hockey Team Gets Hot

In the recent games played by the girls' hockey team, victories have outnumbered losses.On October 24, the Varsity team crushed Conestoga 2-1, with Jayne Fortescue and Lori Magadorn scoring MN's goals. The JV game ended with a score of 0-0. The varsity scored three goals against Haverford on October 26 for a final score of 3-0. Jayne Fortescue and Lori Magadorn were again responsible for the goals. Unfortunately, the Varsity lost to Radnor 3-2 on October 30. However, the JV made up for the Varsity's loss by defeating Radnor 2-0.

Marple Newtown's third and fourth teams defeated Radnor on October 18, each with a score of 1-0. The third and fourth teams competed against Haverford on October 25. Leslie Poor and Sandy Low scored the third team's two winning goals against Haverford's single goal. The fourth team played a scoreless tie.
